METHODOLOGY

Scoping and planning

This phase focuses on the planning of the project's overall direction, including the definition of the project's scope, objectives, and timelines. The deliverable from this phase is this Design Plan.

Conceptual design and research

In this phase, the conceptual design of the methodology is developed and research on existing methodologies is conducted. Research is performed from independent research firms, such as the Gartner Group, Forrester Research, and CIO.com. These research firms sometimes publish the methodologies that consulting firms use. Consulting firms' websites are another source for researching E-commerce strategy methodologies.

The actual methodology is developed in this phase. Detailed descriptions of each task in the methodology are documented, including the objectives, inputs, approach, relevant models, applicable tools and techniques, outputs, and any references. The methodology is to be documented in an appropriate format, be it a Word document or HTML pages.

Implementation of methodology

The methodology will be implemented with a client. This phase includes the marketing of E-commerce strategy development services and the closing of the sale, followed by the actual implementation.

Revision of methodology

Final touches and revisions to the methodology are made in this phase. The majority of these revisions come from experiences on the client project. Sample reports and any additional references are added to the methodology.

No one rejects, dislikes, or avoids pleasure itself, because it is pleasure, but because those who do not know how to pursue pleasure rationally encounter consequences that are extremely painful. Nor again is there anyone who loves or pursues or desires to obtain pain of itself, because it is pain, but because occasionally circumstances in which toil and pain can procure him some great pleasure. To take a trivial example, which ever undertakes laborious physical exercise, except to obtain some advantage from it? But who has any right to find fault with a man who chooses to enjoy a pleasure that has or one who avoids a pain that produces no resultant pleasure"

These cases are perfectly simple and easy to distinguish. In a free hour

About Us

But I must explain to you how all this mistaken idea of denouncing pleasure and praising pain was born and I will give you a complete account of the system, and expound the actual teachings of the great explorer of the truth, the master-builder of human happiness. No one rejects, dislikes, or avoids pleasure itself, because it is pleasure, but because those who do not know how to pursue pleasure rationally encounter consequences that are extremely painful. Nor again is there anyone who loves or pursues or desires to obtain pain of itself, because it is pain, but because occasionally circumstances in which toil and pain can procure him some great pleasure. To take a trivial example, which ever undertakes laborious physical exercise, except to obtain some advantage from it?
